Claim Zaire Invaders Thrown Back

KINSHASA, Zaire (AP) — President Mobutu Sese Seko's troops have driven the invaders in southern Zaire back 15 miles and checked their advance on Kolwezi, the copper-mining center, the government news agency AZAP says.

The government report said Zairean troops launched a counter-offensive Saturday night and captured arms, medical supplies and one wounded prisoner.

There was no confirmation of the government's claim.

It was not known whether any of the 1,500 Moroccan troops supporting the government were involved in the fighting, but reporters returning from the area said 400 of the North African Arabs had been sent to the village of Kanzenze, 25 miles northwest of Kolwezi, where Zairean troops were confronting the rebels.

AZAP said the government forces recovered some of the weapons they lost when an estimated 2,000 Katangan exiles from neighboring Angola crossed the border on March 8 and overran a third of Shaba province.

Shaba was Katanga province when Zaire was the Congo, and the invaders are led by veterans of the late Moise Tshombe's unsuccessful attempt to separate the province and its mineral wealth from the rest of the country in the early 1960s.

Girl Wins Pageant

DENNISON, Ohio (AP) — The first runnerup in last year's Miss Ohio pageant, Susan Perkins, 22, of Columbus, was crowned Miss Clayland late Saturday.

Miss Perkins, a native of Middletown, is a legislative intern with the Ohio Senate. She is a 1976 graduate of Miami University in Oxford.

First runnerup in the Miss Clayland pageant was 20-year-old Taryn Hunter of Columbus, last year's third runnerup in the Miss Clayland contest. Second runnerup was Susan Swies, 22, of Gahanna, last year's first runnerup. Third runnerup was Tana Carli, 21, of Alliance and fourth runnerup was 18-year-old Cynthia Hammond of New Philadelphia.

Miss Perkins now is eligible to compete in this summer's Miss Ohio pageant.

Carter: 'Energy Sky Falling'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is preparing to warn the American people that "the sky is falling" as far as energy is concerned and that there must be sacrifices now to hold off abrupt and painful shortages in the future.

Carter is beginning an intensive campaign to win public acceptance of his national energy plan, which he will outline tonight in his second "fireside chat."

The energy policy will be revealed in depth on Wednesday when Carter addresses a joint session of Congress. The Oval Office address has been dubbed by some White House officials as Carter's "the sky is falling speech." It will begin a week largely devoted to persuading the public and Congress that stringent mandatory measures are needed to meet the nation's energy needs.

One White House official familiar with the prepared address said Carter "will tell them we must conserve now to avoid real hardships later on."

Carter's address will be broadcast by all three commercial television networks at 8 p.m. EST.

The official said Carter will describe in straightforward terms the history of the energy crisis worldwide back to the 1930s, then will ask in advance for support of the tough energy package to be unveiled before Congress on Wednesday night.

Tonight, Carter is expected to compare the gravity of the energy problem to America's part in World War II, with a personal appeal to national unity and sacrifice designed "to avoid another Pearl Harbor," the White House official said.

The President remained in Washington over the weekend to put final touches on the energy package. Aides to White House energy adviser James Schlesinger said final decisions on parts of the program were still being made Sunday afternoon.

The proposal has not yet been made public officially, but its major elements were one of Washington's worst kept secrets and were widely reported last week.

One source said over the weekend that an additional federal gasoline tax, which could rise to 50 cents a gallon by the mid 1980s, will be included in the plan. The federal gasoline tax now is

Packed National Parks Seen This Summer

By LOUISE COOK Associated Press Writer

The National Park System expects crowds this year to top the record bicentennial turnout. It's time to plan if you expect to be among the millions visiting federal sites this summer.

Ninety-nine areas in the national park system, including 37 national parks, have campgrounds. In all, there are 293 sites in the system, such as monuments, memorials, historic houses and battlefields, according to spokesman Duncan Morrow.

Morrow said there were 238.8 million visits to the national park system in 1975 and 267.8 million in 1976. The service expects about 280 million visits this year.

The most popular period at national parks is from mid-June to Labor Day, Morrow said. He said the Park Service more than doubles its staff during the busy months, adding 10,000 employees to the permanent staff of 8,000.

The familiar parks such as Yosemite, Yellowstone and Grand Canyon will be crowded as usual, Morrow said, but many lesser-known facilities offer equal attractions with more elbow room.

Great Smoky Mountains National Park in North Carolina and Tennessee, for example, gets more than 10 million visits a year. Eighty miles away, the Cumberland Gap National Historic Park, which includes a section of wilderness trail cut by Daniel Boone, draws only half a million visits.

Visiting national parks involves two four cents per gallon.

The source said there are other potentially controversial items, which remain unknown outside a small circle of presidential energy advisers. He declined to reveal them.

Carter will make three separate television appearances during the week to talk about energy problems and his proposals, which he has acknowledged will cost him 15 to 20 points in public opinion approval polls.

Besides tonight's speech and the address to Congress, the President also has scheduled a news conference Friday morning to discuss energy.

In addition to the gasoline tax, Carter's program also is expected to offer tax incentives for homeowners to insulate their houses; require utility companies to convert to coal; allow domestic oil prices to rise to the world price level set by the 13 Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

fees — one for entrance, another for camping.

Entrance fees per carload of visitors range from nothing at some spots to $3 at Yosemite and Carlsbad Caverns. If you arrive by other means, such as by bicycle or bus, the charge is 50 cents per person.

Camping fees also start at zero, although Morrow warned: "If you're paying nothing, you're getting just about what you're paying for, a space." Most camping fees range from $1 to $4 a day per campsite, depending on such items as restrooms, electrical connections, water and security forces.

There are ways to cut costs, particularly if you plan to visit more than one park or site in a year.

The Golden Eagle Passport costs $10 and is good for admission to all national park system areas during the calendar year in which the pass is issued. One passport admits a carload of people to drive-in attractions such as parks or a family to walk-in sites such as historic houses. Write to the National Park Service or the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation (both in the Interior Department), Washington, D.C., 20240. Make checks or money orders payable to "Golden Eagle."

Persons 62 and older can get free Golden Age Passports entitling them to free admission to park system areas and 50 per cent discounts on camping fees. You must apply in person at a national park, supplying only proof of age.

Advance planning can help you avoid crowded areas, but there is not much you can do in the way of reserving a campsite. Only four national parks — Acadia in Maine, Grand Canyon in Arizona, Mt. McKinley in Alaska and Chickasaw (formerly Platt) in Oklahoma — accept reservations.

Several low-cost government publications offer help to would-be park visitors. All are available from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009.

Russians May Face Future Oil Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russia now is self-sufficient in oil, but in a few years it will face an energy crisis that is likely to sharpen U.S.-Soviet rivalries in the Middle East, CIA analysts predict.

This is one of the most startling and, in the view of analysts, significant conclusions in a still-secret report to President Carter. That report, mentioned briefly by Carter last Friday, warns of a potential global oil shortage in less than 10 years.

Until the new CIA analysis was made, most experts had regarded Russia as the only major power without any serious worries about future energy supplies.

Russia now ranks as the biggest oil-refining nation in the world and has been lavish in exports, especially to its East European allies who receive an estimated 75 per cent of their oil supplies from the Soviet Union.

Russia also sells oil to West Germany, Denmark, Iceland and other NATO countries. On occasion, particularly during the Arab oil embargo after the 1973 Mideast war, oil exports gave Moscow a tool for applying political pressure.

U.S. intelligence analysts believe a sharp decline in Soviet oil supplies will force Russia to compete with the United States and Western Europe for Persian Gulf oil.

That, in turn, likely will sharpen U.S.-Soviet political rivalry in the already volatile Mideast, the analysts say.

On the other hand, a cutback in Soviet exports to East Europe would make communist countries there less dependent on Moscow.

Apart from political considerations, a reduction in Soviet oil exports to Western Europe could have economic consequences for Moscow because, analysts say, these sales account for much of Russia's hard currency acquisitions.

According to the CIA study, Russian oil production may peak as early as next year and certainly by the early 1980s. The study says significant declines will follow.

New discoveries have failed to keep pace with a growth in Soviet oil production, the study says.

President Seeking Dam Fight Loophole

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is working to extricate himself from a political tangle of his own making, while keeping his promise to curb the government's beaver-like ambitions to dam the nation's rivers and flood its flatlands.

Carter is recommending a halt in 1978 funding for 15 water projects, cuts in funding for five more, continued review for two projects and full funding for eight. His recommendations have been disclosed by sources in Congress, state governments and environmental groups.

The President is announcing the recommendations today.

Before the announcement, information about his decisions showed they could save taxpayers an estimated $120 million in fiscal 1978, which begins Oct. 1. About $109 million would come from halts in funding. The remainder would be from the partial cuts.

Congress has final say over how much money each project gets.

Carter promised during his campaign to halt unnecessary dam building by the Army Corps of Engineers and to support cutbacks in water projects under such agencies as the Bureau of Reclamation.

His first move to redeem that promise was to order a review of 340 water projects for economic feasibility and environmental safety. Most are the pet projects of members of Congress who are not adverse to government spending in their home districts.

On Feb. 19, administration sources said Carter would delete funds for 18 of the projects from the 1978 budget. Members of the House and Senate, some of whom had not been told in advance, expressed anger. On Feb. 20, Carter announced his request and added a project in his home state of Georgia, the Richard B. Russell Dam, to the list.

Carter defended the deletions, saying the projects would be reviewed again before a final decision and that cutting projects was needed to keep his promise to balance the budget by 1981. Carter economists estimate the budget deficit next year will be some $55.2 billion.

Weather

Mostly cloudy with a chance of showers today, tonight and Tuesday. High near 80 today and Tuesday with a low tonight in the upper 50s. Chances of precipitation, 30 per cent today and tonight with a 50 per cent chance Tuesday. Saturday's high was 77 with a low of 48 while the high Saturday was 76 with a low of 50. The sun will set 7:13 p.m. today and rise 5:48 Tuesday.

Congress Awaits Energy Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is returning to Washington to hear President Carter's proposals for a broad new energy program and to decide how to handle the remnants of the administration's economic stimulus package.

Before leaving for a 10-day Easter recess, the Senate had scheduled the big Carter tax bill for immediate attention on its return today. The House already passed a version that included Carter's plan to send $50 rebates to most Americans in a one-shot economic stimulation effort.

But Carter has given up on the $50 payments and Senate handlers of the bill now seem certain to put off action while they decide whether to consider the measure at all. They could decide to salvage portions of Carter's plan by attaching them to other measures.

Republicans, meanwhile, were repeating their demands for a permanent tax cut in place of the one-time rebates and other payments, even though Carter said at a news conference Friday he would veto any legislation containing such provisions.

Showers Hit Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Showers and thundershowers were scattered across the lower and middle Mississippi Valley through the Ohio River Valley, the Great Lakes region, central Great Plains and much of the central Rockies today.

Elsewhere, fair or partly cloudy skies were forecast with temperatures seasonably mild or warm across most of the nation.

A few locally heavy thunderstorms were reported early this morning in Arkansas and there were reports of rain and snow in Wyoming.

Temperatures early this morning dipped into the 20s in parts of the Rockies and northern New England, but held in the 70s in southern Florida and parts of the far Southwest. Readings in the 40s and 50s were most common.

Predawn temperatures around the nation ranged from 23 degrees at Houlton, Maine to 77 at Needles, Calif., and Fort Lauderdale.

With the removal of the immediate prospect of a long debate over the $50 payments, Congress turned its attention to Carter's proposals for a national energy program. The President is to present them formally at a joint House and Senate session Wednesday, but is to outline them to the country in a broadcast talk tonight.

It already is generally known that the energy package combines mandatory conservation measures, such as an increase in the gasoline tax of as much as 50 cents a gallon over a period of several years. The package also is expected to include a tax of up to $2,500 on new gas-guzzling cars, along with incentives to both individuals and businesses to conserve fuel.

Among features of the Carter tax bill considered certain to be retained in one way or another are continuations of tax reductions now in effect, but due to expire.

The bill would extend through 1978 a general tax credit that allows a taxpayer to take off his bill $35 for himself and each of his dependents, or alternatively to take a 2 per cent credit, up to $180, on his income. Also to be extended is an earned income credit up to $400, benefitting low-income working families. A temporary cut in the tax on the first $50,000 annual income of corporations also is likely to survive.

Another provision of the bill likely to be saved is one that would simplify tax forms and give an estimated tax cut to 46 million couples, while raising taxes for about two million single persons.

This provision, applying only to those who do not itemize their deductions, would provide new flat standard deductions of $2,200 for single persons and $3,200 for couples filing jointly.

Teachers Face Threat

CINCINNATI (AP) — Striking Cincinnati public school teachers faced the threat of having medical insurance cancelled today if they failed to return to classrooms, ending their four-day walkout.

The city-wide strike affects some 65,000 students, with more than half of the 3,100 teachers honoring the picket lines. The first full-scale negotiating since the walkout started last Wednesday was scheduled for today, aided by a federal mediator.

The war of words continued over the weekend, with the president of the AFL-CIO-aligned teachers union accusing the school board Sunday of scare tactics designed to "bust the union."

Roger Stephens, president of the 1,300-member Cincinnati Federation of Teachers (CFT), was cheered Sunday by more than 1,000 strike supporters during a rally on Fountain Square.

Delco Strike At Dayton Finally Ends

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — A strike at the General Motors Delco-Moraine plant here that had threatened to shut down GM operations nationwide was formally settled Sunday as United Auto Workers local 696 approved a new contract.

A small turnout produced a 75 per cent margin in favor of the new contract, which was thought to give considerable concessions on the issue of worker production output standards.

Following a tentative agreement Friday night between the UAW leadership and GM, workers had returned to the job for the third shift after walking out Monday. Acceptance of the callback was termed unusual before a contract vote but was said to signal that the automaker had given in to union demands.

Company representatives said the strike was threatening GM operations nationwide. The Dayton complex manufactures brakes and transmission parts as well as other components vital to GM production.

GM and the UAW signed a new three-year contract nationally last fall, but the two sides also had to negotiate 143 separate local agreements on noneconomic issues like the one at Dayton. The Delco-Moraine settlement leaves about 12 local contracts unsigned around the country.

UNIQUE CAR — Dennie Mosley, of State Route 56 East, shows his award-winning car, "Pirate's Dream." Mosley got started in his hobby when he saw a friend's car, and as he said, "I just got the fever." "Pirate's Dream" is a 1933 Plymouth equipped with 283 cubic inch engine that Mosley balanced and blue-printed. It also has a gold crushed velvet interior and the entire engine exterior with the exception of the block is chrome. In February of 1977 Mosley took second place in the street rod coup class at the Auto-Rama in Columbus. Two weeks ago the car won first place in the street rod class at the Van-O-Rama at the Ohio State Fairgrounds. The prize-winning car is valued at $8,000, according to Mosley.

Mourning Dove Hassle Continues

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The mourning dove is off Ohio's list of game birds for 1977 although the Department of Natural Resources is going ahead with an appeal of a court ruling blocking dove hunting.

The 6th District Court of Appeals in Toledo ruled Feb. 4 that the head of the wildlife division did not have the authority to set a hunting season on the dove.

A spokesman for the division said a successful challenge of the ruling would still permit a change in the season schedule to allow for dove hunting. But he pointed out that the state would have to work within the limits of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service because the dove is a migratory bird, the same as ducks, geese and woodcock.

Only about 10 per cent of the land in Ohio is available for hunting the dove, a challenging gamebird. Division spokesman Jim Schoby explained that dove hunting has only been allowed on so-called agreement lands, generally private property which the owner has made available or hunting by the public with permission.

The mourning dove is hunted in more than 30 states. And even if there is no season allowed in Ohio, Schoby said, "they're going to get shot at all the way from Kentucky to the Gulf (of Mexico)."

The dove furor began in 1975 after the wildlife council announced a season on what most people considered to be a songbird. Preservationists were outraged and they were joined in their battle against dove hunting by such groups as Friends of Animals, headed by author Cleveland Amory and the Ohio-based International Fund for Animals.

The first season was held up for a couple of days on a court order that later was dissolved. State officials termed that season and the one that followed very successful.

The latest court ruling came on a suit brought by Lawrence Hyter of Toledo. It was filed originally before the start of the 1975 season.

Biologists estimated that Ohio's mourning dove population was 7.5 million in 1975 and again in 1976. There was no change reported in population expectations for this year.

Wildlife officials point out that doves live just one year, so this year's doves aren't survivors of previous hunting seasons.

Meantime the State Controlling Board has become involved in the situation. Earlier this month the board refused to allow the wildlife division to spend $20,000 on a study of the dove.

Majority Democrats in the legislature protested when the division set the dove season back in 1975. They argued the division had exceeded its authority.

Rep. George D. Tablack, D-52 Youngstown, a member of the controlling board, suggested the division anticipated a court setback and was trying to use the study to build a case for legislative action to legalize dove hunting.

Man's Menagerie More Like Zoo

CHARLESTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Everyone at the James E. Witchey household knows when it's morning feeding time. The hubbub from their farm is loud enough for a zoo.

And that's just about what they have: lions, tigers, cougars, jaguar, wolves, coyotes, bears, skunks, coati-mundis, monkeys and a wild boar, to name a few.

The menagerie on Witchey's 76-acre Rolling Valley Animal Farm in Portage County started innocently enough two years ago when Witchey's daughter Barbara brought home Newman, a 600-pound lion.

Newman's previous owner used to walk the cat on a leash in Kent and take it into bars sometimes. The patrons at the bar resented this intrusion into their domain.

The entire Witchey family fell in love with Newman and decided he should have some female company. "All you have to do is get one lion and the word gets out," said Witchey, who owns the Witchey Rubber Products. "People are always contacting you with deals, both to buy and sell."

So the animal farm grew and to meet expenses Witchey rents and sells the animals for films and leases them to other farms for breeding. For example, Newman now is in Wisconsin making babies.

Witchey said he recently sold a cougar cub to Marlin Perkins of the television show Wild Kingdom. He said the cub was needed for a film showing how cougars grow up.

"You'd be surprised at the number of people who come around here and want to shoot one of our lions so that they can tell everybody they shot it on safari in Africa," Witchey said.

The Witchey family feeds the animals about 150 pounds of horse meat a day which Witchey buys for three or four cents a pound at auctions. On his daily rounds, Witchey carries a pocketful of cough drops. He said the animals love them, especially the bears and monkey who beg for them. He now is moving the animals about 2,000 yards back from the road where he hopes to put them on public display by the end of May.

He is awaiting a shipment of eight tons of fencing.

Blast Rips Chattanooga

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — An explosion ripped through a downtown building early today, touching off a three-alarm fire and knocking out windows in a two-block area, police said.

No deaths or injuries were reported, but police said a bystander seen before the blast had not been found.

Police blocked off a four-block area against looters and spectators as authorities began to pick through the rubble to determine the cause of the explosion.

The fire started by the explosion at the Siskins Building at Main and Market streets was brought under control in less than two hours. The blast was heard and felt within a seven-to-eight-mile radius, police said.

Police said damage would run more than $1 million.

The five-story Siskins Building, which housed a big branch of the First Tennessee Bank, was destroyed, and windows were blown out in a two-block area, police said.

Authorities said the branch office of the Pioneer Bank located across the street from the Siskins Building also was heavily damaged.

Ohio Assembly Sets Energy Policy Work Following Recess

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The legislature's energy policy is expected to take shape this week in committee rooms and on the floor of the Ohio House, beginning with a vote Tuesday on a bill to encourage use of solar heating systems.

"Ohio's energy policy should include incentives to promote solar energy development and use," House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr. D-89 New Boston, said in endorsing legislation sponsored by Rep. Sherrod Brown, D-61 Mansfield.

Also set for a roll call vote in the House Tuesday is a bill that would permit school districts to adjust their calendar so vacations could be held during cold weather months.

State senators return tonight from the legislature's 11-day Easter break, but no substantive business is planned on the floor of the upper chamber.

Majority Democrats will take the wraps off their version of Gov. James A. Rhodes' $14.5 billion budget on Tuesday or Wednesday. House Finance Chairman Myrl H. Shoemaker, D-88 Bourneville, would not specify on which day a hearing would be held.

But by the end of the week, the giant spending package will be voted out of the Finance Committee and readied for floor action the following week. It was put together last week in Democrat-only closed door meetings.

Brown's energy bill would exempt the cost of solar systems from assessed valuations for property tax purposes. Riffe estimated the cost of installing the systems in private homes ranged from $5,000 to $10,000.

The high cost of harnessing the sun for home heating purposes has proved a deterrent to private development.

"Although the initial costs are high, the costs of operating solar energy systems are minimal," the Democratic leader said. "The initial cost eventually would be recouped over the years as a result of the operational savings in comparison to conventional energy sources."

Most solar systems, however, must be supplemented in homes by other power sources, usually electric, to operate appliances.

Treenappers Will Repay Homeowner

Five Columbus residents have apparently agreed to repay a rural Ashville man for five trees they dug from the ground of his home Sunday morning.

The five people were located at their homes in Columbus' southside by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Bill Carmean.

A neighbor saw the five people take the redbud and dogwood trees from the 10119 Walnut Creek Pike home of Maxwell White shortly after 11 a.m. Sunday.

He furnished Deputy Carmean with descriptions and license numbers of the two vehicles they used.

Deputy Carmean apparently brought the five people back to White's home, where an agreement of restitution was reached.

A Page Of Opinion

Public Strikes Protested

Large cities like Atlanta, Philadelphia and San Francisco may have many differences, but on one subject they have been developing a common theme. The subject is strikes by public employees, and the theme is that the public is tiring of them.

Further, the political leaders of these cities are receiving much heat from their citizens on the frequent interruptions in public services. In many instances the mayors and city councils are fighting back — by firing strikers who refuse to return to work, or at least not giving in to their demands.

Interestingly enough, most mayors of the larger cities are liberal-left oriented politically, elected with the support of the public employee unions. That the officials are now turning on the excesses of their supporters is indicative of the rising citizen resentment.

Urban dwellers are tired of transit system shutdowns, garbage collection interruptions, even strikes by police and firemen. They are tired of paying taxes to be inconvenienced.

The message is filtering back to the people in charge. That is what it takes to develop a little backbone in situations which, if left unchecked, easily could develop into a fatal urban illness.

As They Say

By JIM BISHOP

It was Michel de Montaigne, eons ago, who said: "I quote others only the better to express myself." Rarely, I thumb through aphorisms hunting for expressions which edify, amuse or delight me so that I may pass them on to you.

Howard Cady, editor at William Morrow & Co., sends me a clutch of galleys which will soon be a book called "Peter's Quotations," by Laurence J. Peter. I do not know Mr. Peter, but I acknowledge that, when it comes to picking brains, he knows the best.

I will quote some and hope to bring a smile to your warm lips. There is not room in this shallow editorial grave to identify the dead authors. The live ones will complain in any case.

"Most people have some sort of religion — They know what church they're staying away from." "The best blood often gets into a fool and a mosquito." "Abstract art is a product of the untalented, sold by the unprincipled to the bewildered."

"Buy old masters; they fetch a better price than old mistresses." "History is a long climb from non-existence to Adam to the atom to non-existence." "An autobiography reveals nothing bad about the author except his memory."

"Beauty is the adjustment of all parts proportionately so that one cannot add or subtract or change without impairing the harmony of the whole." "I like men to behave like men — strong and childish." "People think a thing's worth believing in if it's hard to believe."

"The Bible tells us to love our neighbors and also to love our enemies — probably because they are the same people." "The main difficulty of the race question does not lie so much in the condition of the blacks as it does in the mental condition of the whites."

"The man who does not read books has no advantage over the man who cannot read." "We often forgive those who bore us; we cannot forgive those whom we bore." "A bureaucrat is one who cleans up his files by making a copy of every paper before he destroys it."

"There are two times in a man's life when he should not speculate: When he can't afford it and when he can." "In any world menu, Canada must be considered the vichyssoise of nations — it's cold, half-French, and difficult to stir."

"Any country that has sexual censorship will eventually have political censorship." "Every man has three characters — that which he exhibits, that which he has, and that which he thinks he has." "The only thing which tells the truth all the time is a mirror."

"The persons hardest to convince that they are at the retirement age are children at bedtime." "The ultimate censorship is the flick of the television dial."

"Hereditry is what a man believes in until his son begins to behave like a delinquent."

"Childhood is the happiest time of life only to those who survive it."

"Hollywood is a place where the natives know only one word of more than a syllable, and that is fillum."

"What some want is not civil liberty but extra privileges."

"A man who has never gone to school may steal from a freight car; one with a university education may steal the whole railroad." "It is possible for an athlete to win ten letters in college without learning how to write one."

"A camel looks like a horse designed by a committee." "Socialism is workable only in heaven where it isn't needed, and in hell where they have it." "Conceit starts more conversations than wit."

"Conscience doesn't keep you from doing what you shouldn't; it keeps you from enjoying it." "A conservative is one who does not think that anything should be done for the first time."

"Only fools and the dead never change an opinion."

"Don't speak unless you can improve the silence." "A timid person is frightened before a danger, a coward during it, and a courageous person afterwards." "The past is but the beginning of a beginning." "No matter how old you get, if you can keep the desire to be creative, you are keeping the man-child alive."

"Juvenile delinquency starts in the high chair and ends in the electric chair." "Pay no attention to those who criticize; no one ever built a statute to a critic."

We need a final quote and the name of the author: "Nothing would please the Kremlin more than to have the people of This country choose a second-rate president." Richard M. Nixon . . .

Almost half the adult women in the United States are in the labor force now, as opposed to less than a third in 1947.

In 1975, almost 50 per cent of the population of Africa was under the age of 15, according to the Population Reference Bureau.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Monday, April 18, the 108th day of 1977. There are 257 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1775, the American patriot, Paul Revere, made his famous ride in Massachusetts from Charlestown to Lexington to warn the Colonists of the approach of British troops from Boston.

On this date:
In 1970, President Richard Nixon greeted the Apollo 13 astronauts in Hawaii after their harrowing, unsuccessful attempt to make a moon landing.

In 1974, Egypt announced it was ending more than 18 years of exclusive reliance on Soviet arms supplies and would seek armaments elsewhere.

Ten years ago: South Vietnam proposed a withdrawal of warring factions from the demilitarized zone between South Vietnam and North Vietnam, and the United States voiced approval.

Five years ago: The United States halted air strikes against Hanoi and Haiphong to see if there would be a favorable reaction from North Vietnam.

One year ago: An estimated 40,000 Israelis marched into the occupied West Bank area of Jordan, demanding that Israeli annex the territory.

Today's birthdays: Conductor Leopold Stokowski is 95 years old. Actor and producer Robert Hooks is 40.

Thought for today: The nation will find it very hard to look up to the leaders who are keeping their ears to the ground — Sir Winston Churchill, 1874-1965.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The "Pap" test is now accepted as one of the most important factors in the detection of early cancerous conditions of the cervix of the uterus.

Now, in addition to the Pap test, there is another means for collecting information about the lining of the uterus and the health of this tissue.

The technique is known as "uterine aspiration." It is done painlessly and quickly in the doctor's office. With gentle suction, tissue can be extracted from the uterus for rapid microscopic study.

It is said that this new technique is even more accurate than the Pap test for the detection of early cancerous changes within the inner lining of the uterus.

The technique is not a difficult one. Most gynecologists are choosing this particular technique in addition to the continued use of the Pap test, in order to insure the greatest possible protection for their patients.

A group of Swedish doctors have come to the conclusion that zinc can play an important role in helping to control and cure acne.

Dr. Gerd Michaelsson, of Uppsala University in Sweden, gave his patients one tablet of zinc sulfate three times a day, after meals.

After four weeks, there was a "significant decrease in the number of blackheads, whiteheads and pimples. After 12 weeks, the acne had been reduced by 85 per cent in the 64 patients that were included in this study."

The doctor says he does not know yet how zinc works to reduce acne, but the effect of zinc therapy in some of his patients with severe inflammatory acne has been remarkable.

SPEAKING OF YOUR HEALTH . . .
Piercing of the ears should not be done on minors without the specific consent of a parent. Piercing of the ears is a simple surgical procedure, but it can be followed by infections if done under unsterile conditions. Those non-professionals who do this work are usually aware of the importance of sterility. They should insist on parental consent to avoid conflict between parents and their children.

75TH ANNIVERSARY — The Circleville J. C. Penney Store observed the 75th anniversary of the company Friday serving coffee and cake. Taking part in the celebration are, from the left: James Brown, manager; Jenny Jinks, Ella Overly, George Fuhrman, a former manager; Mayor Frank Barnhill; June Streitenberger and Frances Wolfe.

OVERNIGHT — 20 girls of the Tri-Gra-Y clubs enjoyed an overnight at the Hoover Y Park of the Columbus South Side "Y". The girls from Pickaway County Family YMCA were chaperoned by Harold Hewitt and Mrs. Joan Eller. Games, activities, movies, and enjoying the beauty of the spring blossoms were part of the overnight. The girls stayed in the Optimists Lodge with the fun of roasting hot dogs over a huge fire, then everyone had the opportunity of telling ghost stories. Everyone had a great time at a very beautiful place. Schools represented by the girls were, S. Court, Corwin, Mound, High Street, Nicholas and Jackson.

Belgium's Premier Resigns After Vote

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Premier Leo Tindemans resigned today after a general election in which his Social Christian party again ran first and won six more seats in Parliament but failed to win a majority.

Tindemans was expected to form a new coalition government. He indicated he would ask the opposition Socialists, who ran second, to join the government.

The premier's resignation, delivered to King Baudouin, was customary after an election. The king accepted it and asked him to remain in office as caretaker premier until a new government is formed.

Tindemans said he hoped "a government of national union could be set up." Observers believed this was the prelude to an overture to the Socialists. There was no immediate indication from the Socialists, who campaigned against the premier's austerity program.

The Interior Ministry said returns from 3.6 million of more than 6 million votes cast Sunday indicated the 212-member House of Representatives would include 78 Social Christians, a gain of six; 61 Socialists, a gain of two; 33 Liberals (no change), 21 Flemish Volksunie (People's Union) members, a loss of one; nine from the Democratic Front of French Speakers (no change), six members of the Rassemblement Walloon, a loss of seven, and four Communists (no change).

The government said the Social Christians had 1.5 million votes, the Socialists 944,059 and the Flemish party 479,131.

Also at stake were 106 seats in the Senate and 720 seats on provincial councils.

Tindemans' three-year-old left-center coalition with the Liberals and the Rassemblement Walloon collapsed when the Walloons defected on a budget vote. A coalition of the Liberals and Social Christians would have a majority, but it would be only 10 votes.

Belgium is in the grips of the worst recession since World War II. Labor unions have staged a series of one-day strikes to protest the government's decision to cut spending by $540 million and hike taxes by $420 million. Nearly 10 per cent of the work force is unemployed.

Belgium is divided into Flemish-speaking Flanders in the north and French-speaking Wallonia in the south, but the regional language parties that demand autonomy were the only losers.

CUBBERS TOUR HERALD — Members of Den 3, Pack 235 of Atwater PTB Cub Scouts, toured The Herald Saturday morning. Members of the Den are Paul Ballou, Willie Congrove, Shane Curtis, Brian Jenkins, Randy Kline, Robby Kuhlwein, Don Robinson, Chuck Sampson, Kevin Seall, Bobby Stephens. Also attending were Betty Jenkins, den mother; Donald Kline, Creta and Lonnie Kuhlwein and Brent Jenkins. A progressive dinner was held by the pack after the tour.

Boston Marathon Has 3,100 Entrants

BOSTON (AP) — Massachusetts observes Patriots Day today with an international horde of nearly 3,100 runners — young and old, men and women — competing in the 81st Boston Marathon.

The race begins in the tiny Middlesex County community of Hopkinton, 25 miles southwest of Boston. The village faces an invasion much greater than the incident which amounted to the first Boston Marathon — the panicked retreat of 300 British troops from Lexington green to their Boston barracks after being routed by American colonials in 1775.

The runners kick off at high noon, headed for a finish line in Boston, 26 miles and 385 yards away.

Despite a knee injury suffered two weeks ago, Boston school teacher Bill Rodgers was favored. Rodgers was an overwhelming surprise two years ago when he won the race in 2:09.55, the fastest marathon ever run by an American.

Jack Fultz was back to defend his 1976 title, while Ireland's Neil Cusack, who won the event in 2:13.39 in 1974 while a student at East Tennessee State, also figured to be a strong contender.

Twenty-four nations are entered. Japan, which has collected six Boston Athletic Association gold medals and laurel wreaths since 1951, fielded 41 entrants.

Just a dozen years ago the normal starting field was 250 for the granddaddy of U.S. marathons. But then the jogging craze took hold and, despite rigid qualifying restrictions, the field has grown larger each year.

A total of 140 women were entered, competing against 2,938 men. Most of the runners were more than mere joggers. Last year 1,131 finished within the official 3½-hour counting period despite a blistering sun which shot one Hopkinton thermometer to 100 degrees. Other runners struggled across the finish line up to six hours after the start, satisfied to say they finished the race.

Cheering residents along the marathon route hosed down the passing runners throughout the event.

"Those people out there along the course with their garden hoses — let's give every one of them a medal," Fultz said after winning last year in 2 hours, 20 minutes, 19 seconds, outstanding in the heat.

Youth Drop-In Center Planned

While no permanent location is yet available, the first steps in establishing a youth drop-in center will be made on May 3.

Circleville Forum and the other organizations working with them, with the cooperation and assistance of local downtown churches will establish what is to be called "The Floating Rap Place" — drop-in centers which will be open on certain days each week at one of the downtown churches, during the after school hours of 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The first session, on May 3, will be in the second floor recreation room at Community United Methodist Church. Committees are scheduling sessions for the month of May on Tuesdays at Community Church and on Thursdays at other churches. Larry Lewis, Community Director of Education is assisting a Forum Committee and the Youth Center Advisory group made up of local high school students, in planning the first session which will be very informal with opportunities to relax and talk or listen to music, play games, or do home work.

The Youth Advisory group met Sunday afternoon to go over the program and to consider summer activities which could be planned until a permanent youth center can be opened. Mrs. Sterling Poling, Circleville Forum president, presided at both the Friday meeting of adults, held at the Red Cross Chapter House and at the Sunday Youth Advisory meeting. On both occasions, a possible sight for a permanent center was discussed. Committees are checking into it.

They will report at the next meeting of the planning group on May 13. The youth advisory group will expand its membership and meet again on April 29.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

An Apology To West Virginians

DEAR ABBY: For many years we West Virginians have been trying to let outsiders know that we are not all barefoot, illiterate, backward mountain folk. But no matter how we try to point up our economic strength, our flourishing industries, our symphony orchestras and our cultural progress, someone always shoots us down.

The media also does its part by playing up every West Virginia coal mine disaster, prison riot, or national tragedy or scandal.

Can you imagine our delight when in a recent basketball game, we West Virginia Mountaineers defeated Notre Dame, and the perennial powerhouse Irish, before a television audience of millions!

We are not all dumb Hillbillies; Cyrus Vance, President Carter's choice for secretary of state, Robert C. Byrd, the majority leader of the U.S. Senate, Pearl Buck, the famous author, the late Peter Lisagor, a highly respected newspaper correspondent, Peter Marshall, host of Hollywood Squares, actors Don Knotts and Fuzzy Knight, and sports idol Jerry West were all from West Virginia.

We were very disappointed when you, Dear Abby, our favorite columnist, ran a letter in your column that read in part: "Should we allow our daughter, a fifth-generation American, to be married without dignity like a West Virginia Hillbilly?" - and you made no effort to correct that writer.

Surely, an enlightened writer like yourself can't share that bigoted misconception of our beautiful Mountain State.

I think you owe us West Virginians an apology.

PROUD WEST VIRGINIAN
MARTINSBURG, W. VA.

DEAR PROUD: You are right. I plead guilty to the sin of omission. I should NOT have allowed that blatantly bigoted remark to go unchallenged.

As you know, I try to keep my answers brief, but that is no excuse for failing to set that woman straight.

I didn't realize the seriousness of my mistake until I received an avalanche of letters from irate West Virginians.

I have learned a very valuable lesson. I apologize. Thank you for taking me to task. I had it coming.

Very truly yours,
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About unwanted visitors in a hospital: When a patient has an unwanted visitor, if the patient will just close his eyes and pretend he has dropped off to sleep, the visitor will quietly leave.

I am a Gray Lady and I often suggest this to patients who complain that company wears them out.

GRAY LADY

DEAR GRAY LADY: Take it from an old Gray Lady (either way): Never underestimate the persistence of some visitors. Some have been known to sit for hours waiting for the patient to "wake up."

DEAR ABBY: In reply to DIS-GUSTED IN CHICAGO, you wrote: "One of life's most baffling mysteries is what people 'in love' see in each other."

That caused me to recall these words from "THE LITTLE PRINCE": "It is only with the heart one can see rightly; what is essential is invisible to the eye."

ARTHUR H. PRINCE

If you are a novice at making cheese fondue, remember to cut the French bread to be served with it so that each piece has a portion of crust. Recipes for the cheese dish sometimes neglect to remind cooks of this!

Mrs. Siniff Hosts Circle 4 UM Women

Circle 4, Good Shepherd United Methodist Church, met in the home of Mrs. Eugene Siniff, Sunnyview Drive, Thursday evening.

Mrs. Siniff, chairman, opened the meeting with a verse.

Members were reminded of forth coming events as follows: School of Missions, April 17, from 2-4:00 p.m. Circle 4 is to provide the punch. Mrs. Evelyn Delong is the guest speaker, her subject will be Africa. Each family is asked to bring one dozen cookies for refreshments. School of Missions, April 24, from 7:00-9:00 p.m. with a film which will be narrated by Mary Elizabeth Radcliffe. Prayer and Self Denial, April 24, morning worship service will be conducted by women of W.S.W.S., Guest Speaker, Percy May-Cole, student attending Bluffton College.

Mary White reported Marie Wilson has ordered the new books for our reading requirements. She reminded all of the May 17th trip to Otterbein House at Lebanon.

Evelyn Perdon presented the devotions for the evening.

Lida Ross gave prayer at close of the business meeting.

Pat Reed presented a program, taken from The Christian Herald.

Refreshments were served by Myrna Siniff, Patty Cubbisom, and Launa Wynkoop.

Sohio Plan For Alaskan Oil Renewed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A plan by Standard Oil of Ohio to construct a terminal for Alaskan oil at Long Beach, Calif. has received a new lease on life.

Tom Quinn, chairman of the California Air Resources Board, said Thursday he has decided against shelving the controversial proposal.

Quinn last month threatened to place the company's proposal in the "inactive file" if the application for the oil terminal was not completed by Monday.

But Quinn said top company officials came to see him last week and said they would do everything possible to complete the application, providing data required under the federal Clean Air Act.

"Monday they hand-delivered to me a document with substantial additional information on the project," he said from his home here. "They clearly indicated they were trying to complete the application."

"It certainly is a very positive step forward," he said. "They seem to be acting in good faith now."

Quinn said he plans to meet with the officials again next Wednesday to discuss the proposal.

Sohio wants to build the $500 million oil terminal at Long Beach to transport Alaskan oil through a pipeline to Texas for distribution to the Midwest.

Buttered snap beans take on special interest when they are served with a topping of freshly grated Parmesan cheese.

Ashville Senior Daylight Savings Citizens Meet

Thursday, April 14, the Senior Citizens' in Ashville held their regular monthly meeting at the Village United Methodist Church. A carryin lunch was enjoyed at the noon hour. Visiting and card playing provided the morning entertainment.

Harold Bumgarner, president, conducted the business meeting in the afternoon. Secretary's report was given by Helen Noecker and the treasurer's report was given by Leona Berger. It was decided to have a sack lunch at the May meeting. Announcements were made by Wanda Hamilton. She reminded the group of the upcoming Senior Citizen's week starting May 15. She invited them all to come to the Pickaway Senior Center and join in any of the activities they would like. She urged them to come to the Yard, Craft, and Bake Sale at the Center on April 20. She said plans had been made to serve lunch on that day.

Bumgarner turned the meeting over to the program committee, who in turn introduced Lou Deal who represented the new Equitable Federal Savings and Loan Office in Ashville. Mrs. Deal invited the members to visit the new office any time. She introduced Tom Kochensparger, from the Lancaster Equitable Federal Savings and Loan, and he showed slides on "Direct Deposit on Social Security." Mrs. Deal and Kochensparger discussed the services performed by their offices.

Rev. Starling Morrow provided the inspirational part of the program. He read the scripture of the Easter story and offered prayer at the close of the meeting.

Daylight Savings Affects Liquor Sales Saturday

Daylight savings time returns to Ohio and most of the remainder of the nation at 2:00 a.m. Sunday, April 24, Clifford E. Reich, director of the Department of Liquor Control, reminded all state liquor permit holders.

When the clock strikes 2:00 a.m. it will, in fact, be 3:00 a.m., thirty minutes past the legal closing time for permit holders entitled to be open until 2:30 a.m.

Therefore, all sales of liquor must cease at 2:00 a.m., when clocks should be advanced one hour, Mr. Reich said.

Friendly Visitors Hold Shutin Party, Meeting

Recently the Friendly Visitors, a group from the Pickaway Senior Center sponsored a Shut-in Party at the Center.

The afternoon was spent visiting and a program for entertainment. Mary Ann Carle provided the music with her accordion and spontaneous singalongs were enjoyed. Eva Hefflefinger gave readings which brought back memories of long ago.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. Special favors were given to each guest to take home. Shut-ins attending the party were Elizabeth Bachman, Agnes Ragland, Kathryn Huffer, Stella Willison, Eva Hefflefinger, Melba Hogsett, Cora Ruhl, Cleo Dunnick. Friendly Visitors attending were Hazel Cline, Minnie Strawser, Mertie Barton, Jennie Hoffman, Maneva Ross, Dorotha Friend, Della Wertman, Leora Sayre, Helen Kuhlwein, Ruth Smith, Jennie Eccard, and Wanda Hamilton.

The Friendly Visitors meeting was held April 12, at the Senior Center. Wanda Hamilton, gave a reading "There's No Indispensable Man" and Pauline Jones read "The Fuel Value of Foods." There were 26 birthday cards signed to send to shut-ins and nursing home patients. Ten get well cards were signed to be sent to those persons who were hospitalized or ill.

Okie Boyer sent a lily to the Friendly Visitors in appreciation for their thoughtfulness. The Friendly Visitors discussed the upcoming carry-in lunch which they will sponsor in tribute to Okie Boyer. In February Mr. Boyer was 100 years young but the weather conditions didn't permit the celebration that was planned. On April 30 his friends and relatives will pay tribute to his 100 years in this life. The Friendly Visitors were informed many of Mr. Boyer's relatives from other states will be coming to help celebrate the occasion. Plans were formulated by the group to be hostesses on this special day. Everyone in the Circleville area is welcome to the Center on April 30 to pay tribute to Mr. Boyer.

Discussion was held about the Senior Citizen's week, starting May 15 with a picnic at Hebron Methodist Church. Della Wertman and Jennie Eccard were appointed to take care of the refreshments for the special Shut-in party on Monday, May 16 which is also part of the Senior Citizen's Week of activities. Many other volunteers will be involved in this day's activities. Each member was urged to suggest persons who would like to be guests for that day. More discussion was held on the activities planned for Tuesday, May 17, which is the day Governor Rhodes has proclaimed as Ohio Senior Citizens' Day. The Friendly Visitors discussed "Morning Devotions" which is the first of a series of inspirational programs, planned for the summer months, to be held on the Senior Center lawn.

Friendly Visitors attending the meeting were Pauline Jones, Minnie Strawser, Hazel Cline, Mary Howard, Ruth Smith, Leora Sayre, Mertie Barton, Mary Roberts, Maneva Ross, Jennie Hoffman, Jennie Eccard, and Wanda Hamilton. Guests were Pauline Sockman and Melba Hogsett.

Refreshments were served by Leora Sayre and Hazel Cline.

Young Life Is Planning Bake Sale

Young Life of Circleville is having a bake sale Saturday in front of Murphy's downtown. It will be held 8:30 a.m. until 1:30 p.m.

Baked goods should be brought to Murphy's by 8 a.m. Saturday or taken to 367 E. Main St. anytime Friday evening.

Anyone interested in learning macrame should see Debbie Brown or Carol Zink at the club meeting tonight. There will be a minimum charge for materials.

Local Rangers Attend Youth Conference

Barbara McKenzie, Pickaway County Grange Youth Director, and Paul Dunkle, former youth director, were present at the fourth annual youth conference held in Summit County over the weekend.

The meeting was held in Norton, Ohio, with members from twelve counties in the state attending the sessions on Youth programs, Lecturers programs and code reading.

State officers present were State Master and Mrs. James Ross, State Lecturer Clara Speight, and the State Youth Directors Mr. and Mrs. Bernie Shoemaker.

A most inspiring talk was given by Mrs. Byron Frederick, past Junior Director of Ohio State Granges. Following the talk of a discussion period, the youth participated in a treasure hunt throughout the city of Norton.

Boys Choir To Sing At Saltcreek Grange

The Circleville Boys' Choir will present a concert for the program of the Saltcreek Valley Grange on Tuesday evening April 19. This program is under the direction of Paul Dunkle, former lecturer of the grange.

Hosts for the meeting will be Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie and Barbara, and Ron Chesser.

The business session will begin at 7:30 p.m. and will be followed by the concert.

Knights, Sons Participate In Athletic Events

Approximately 20 Knights of Columbus and their sons enjoyed an afternoon of basketball and volleyball at the Pickaway County Family YMCA Sunday.

Refreshments of coke and pizza were served at the council rooms following the games. Youth chairman, Mike Griffith, declared the event a huge success.

Community activities director, Jim Butler, announced that Father Hannan Council would purchase a new ping pong table to be donated to the YMCA. Butler also announced that the council would participate in four partners in Youth with YMCA.

It was also announced by Butler that several of the Knights and their children participated in a Community cleanup project this past Saturday. This took place in the block around the Courthouse.

Arcosani: One Architect's Dream

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — He put a shamrock plant on his head, shook hands with Mayor Margaret Hance, nibbled an organic salad of watercress and whatnot and watched the audience drink green beer.

Then visionary architect Paolo Soleri said a few words and led the opening day crowd to the unveiling of a model of his futuristic city.

The 18-foot-high model took five months to produce and would have cost $100,000 if made commercially, the wiry Italian said.

The reproduction matches the actual construction of Soleri's dream city being built on a desert mesa 70 miles north of here. The model, like the actual city, was put together on a shoestring budget by dedicated, hardworking students who believe in the man and his work and are willing to pay for the privilege of laboring with him.

"We could have the city built in five years with some capital," said Soleri. "But we are given time, not cash, so that will mean 10 to 15 years. But that's no matter. At least we have no mortgage."

He seems in no hurry to bring his dream to reality, but to enjoy it as it evolves and changes.

"The concept continues as designed," he said. "but we learn as we do and we adapt, improve."

The prototype city Soleri has been building on an 860-acre tract since 1970 is named Arcosanti.

"The name has to do with ecology and a lot of other things," he said, declining to explain in detail, implying the word, like the concept, is too intricate for the public to comprehend.

Soleri came here from Italy in 1932 to study with Frank Lloyd Wright. He later returned to Italy to study ceramic molding, an art practiced now at Arcosanti.

When he returned to Arizona, Soleri established the Cosanti Foundation in Scottsdale in 1956, a nonprofit educational umbrella through which his philosophical and construction work is done. Cosanti means "before things" in Italian, aides said.

The often criticized, always controversial architect began building his city with a few shovels, a cement mixer and a group of idealistic students. About a dozen who started with him are still a part of the project, he said.

Soleri said he chose the site "because I was here" — in Arizona. The design of Arcosanti is "arcology," Soleri's term for a combination of architecture and ecology. Instead of sprawling, Soleri's city will rise 25 stories above the desert. It will cover only 10 acres, with more than 98 per cent of the 860-acre tract preserved in its natural state.

It will face south for the sun — "I felt this need for solar energy 20 years ago" — and slightly more than four acres sloping down the mesa below the building will be a greenhouse, used to grow food for the community, provide its heat, light and cooling.

Today, there is no Arcosanti. Construction of the main building has yet to begin, but geometrical support structures are up.

"We have the minor structures, a winnall factory, a ceramics workshop, a bronze foundry, a coffee shop and visitors center," he said.

Construction plans this year include a 25-meter swimming pool, a lab building, an apartment and seminar complex and interior work on existing structures.

But the finished product will place automated industries, power plants and warehouses on the lower levels where natural light is not essential. Living space will be on the exterior shell of the apse, with areas all linked by automated transport systems.

The city of the future is smaller, said Soleri, but connects the life of man with nature. The sun's heat and air currents are utilized. Pollution is reduced, open space preserved, men brought closer together spiritually. Privacy problems would not occur with proper architectural design, he added.

About 30 persons live at Arcosanti, half of them instructors and construction supervisors. But 1,700 students and professionals have attended six-week workshops there, with a new group of 300 arriving this month.

Workshop participants pay $500 for the session, and come from throughout the world to live in a plywood camp described in an Arcosanti newsletter as "adequate but frugal."

The newsletter warns applicants they need no previous construction experience, but must have humility, tolerance, self-restraint, civility, self-responsibility, open-mindedness and be willing to work hard and accept the authority of the foundation.

It's not all drudgery at Arcosanti though. They celebrate the spring and fall equinoxes, the summer and winter solstices. And there's the annual Arcosanti Arts Festival, featuring the New Games Tournament, with participants whomping each other with gusto with styrofoam sticks and painting faces on other people and themselves.

That's all part of Soleri's plan. "The urbanization process is actually a process of reaching grace and actualizing love," he said.

Students Find Unexpected On Trip To China

EDITOR'S NOTE—Sixteen students from Colorado Academy near Denver, spent 18 days in China last month. Ranging in age from 11 to 15, they were the youngest group of Americans to visit the People's Republic of China. The following story, about the students' view of China, is excerpted from diaries kept by them and three teachers accompanying them.

By The Colorado Academy China Group

Written for The Associated Press

Life in China was not exactly what we might have expected in a Communist country. Wages were not all equal, and medical care was not all free. But the people we met seemed satisfied.

An 18-day tour of six Chinese cities brought us into contact with farmers, workers, teachers, doctors, students and people we simply met in the streets and stores. They were curious about American life, as we were curious about theirs. But they did not envy us.

Our group of three teachers and 16 students, aged 11 to 15, from Colorado Academy, a private school near Denver, came home with a broad picture of daily Chinese life. Our impressions were recorded in diaries which we kept during the trip.

"We found much to admire in China, and much room for improvement," John Mulvihill, 15, wrote in his journal.

However, as the youngest group of Americans to visit the People's Republic of China, we did not go there to see whether our country or theirs was better. We went to see how the Chinese lived.

We saw their homes, on farm communes and in cities. Two rooms for a family of four or five seemed normal. On a commune outside Peking we visited a home that was neat but — Andy Hornbrook, 13, noted — "didn't have a carpet on its concrete floor." In a worker's flat in a Shanghai housing development Paul Gutjahr, 15, spotted a radio and record player.

The home that impressed many of us belonged to the head of a fruit production brigade on a commune near Suchou. He said he spent 2,000 yuan — about $1,000 — to build and furnish his two-room stone house where he and his wife live with their 4-year-old child. The cost of the home equalled their combined wages for two years. Their furniture consisted of a table, a dresser and their proudest possession — a beautifully hand-carved wooden bed.

On the whole we thought the homes simple and primitive by American standards. However, the Chinese had other standards. The commune house owner told Diana Nice, 14, that he grew up in "a low-ceilinged one-room hut." In the Shanghai housing development, the government had preserved a few 5-by-4-foot scrap metal and wood shacks as a "museum" to show how workers lived before communism. Now they had two rooms for a family of four or five, three rooms for a family of six, plus shared kitchens and bathrooms, at monthly rentals ranging between $3 and $8.

The difference in rentals and housing reflected something else we detected — wage differences. Our hosts played these down and said China no longer had rich or poor. A guide told Roger Kirkpatrick, one of our teachers, that wages were based on this formula: "From each according to his ability. To each according to his work and need."

This meant some earned more than others. We visited a jade carving factory where the average monthly wage was the equivalent of about $20. Our guides earned about $25. We were told steel workers received up to $45.00. In most families both husband and wife worked.

At a hospital we were told doctors earned "essentially" what a worker was paid. We guessed it was more, and we asked the Chinese what incentive there would be for a person to become a doctor.

"In our country, one does not become a doctor for fame and wealth," was the reply. "The incentive is the opportunity to serve the people."

Charles Niimi, 14, noted that "some Chinese earn enough to have savings and bank accounts." The Suchou commune home owner did. The carpetless commune workers outside Peking didn't.

Tight government price controls have kept prices down so that the workers could buy things with their low wages. We were told it cost the average Chinese family the equivalent of 20 U.S. cents to feed one person one meal. Adrienne Pixley, 12, bought her mother a heavy, warm Mao-type quilted jacket in a department store for about $7. Mao hats cost 50 cents. It seemed the streets were filled with bikes and that almost every Chinese owned one. A bike cost about $75. We saw very few cars, and our guides said they were all government owned.

Medical care was free in the neighborhood and factory clinics. But if someone had to go to a hospital for an operation, there was a fee. This surprised us although the fees were so small. We saw an operation for the removal of an ovarian tumor, performed with acupuncture anesthesia, and we were told the hospital charge was $7.50. A doctor said no surgery fee was over $15. "We saw how the Chinese spent their spare time. They did not have much of it since they must work six days a week and students go to school six days a week. But they did take time out for sports, movies, plays and opera, and they enjoyed their parks and tourist attractions like the Great Wall.

The best entertainment we saw was a troupe of acrobats in Canton. They performed some hair-raising stunts, magic acts and comedy. Laura Plaut, 11, described the show as "really truly funny." Some movies, plays and opera we saw were interesting. They were all about Communist heroes.

All the theaters were crowded, and the audiences seemed to love the shows. "The thing that amazed us was the ticket price," Tom Evans, 13, wrote in his diary. "A family of five could see a very good theater performance for 50 cents."

We also saw one of Shanghai's 11 "children's palaces" — huge recreation centers where youngsters 7 to 15 years old could go after school and learn arts and crafts, or play games like Chinese chess, or engage in sports, or study acting, singing or dancing.

In several places we met people who had retired and had lots of spare time. Many lived with sons and daughters and helped with housework and child care. Others lived in "Homes of Respect for the Aged." There, they could play chess or cards, watch television or visit with friends.

Blind Radio Newscaster Undaunted

DELPHOS, Ohio (AP) — Bob Ulm is an award-winning radio newscaster who says his future looks bright—regardless of whether he remains in journalism, goes into politics or pursues his musical talents.

But Ulm, 21, will never view any of his successes. He is blind.

"I don't think my sights, so to speak, are limited in any respect," said Ulm, who runs the one-man news department at WDOH-FM in Delphos.

"In some other people's eyes they might be. But then those people are the ones who can't see—and it's not me."

Ulm spends his days and nights on the lookout for what residents in Delphos need to know. And his journalistic efforts have won national honors.

"Radio is ideal for me," he said. "I know how much can be conveyed by listening and how much can't because that's what I've done all my life."

Ulm will receive in June one of the four national awards presented annually by Associated Press Broadcasters. A panel of broadcast journalists selected him from scores of nominees in the "best overall cooperation" category.

The APB citation notes that he was the third largest contributor to the Ohio AP broadcast report in 1976, covering not only his west central Ohio community of 7,600, but much of western Ohio as well.

The Ohio Bureau of Services for the Blind bought Ulm a $6,200 machine that prints AP radio news copy in Braille. He can type about 100 words a minute on his manual Braille writer.

Ulm's five daily newscasts contain 85-90 per cent local news, most of it gathered by telephone. His monthly phone bills average $700 for calls to the six counties in his coverage area.

"Some individuals feel that because I'm blind, I should be some kind of shining light or something," Ulm said. "But I would much prefer to be considered the best damn newsman around rather than the best blind newsman around."

Ulm lost his sight at the age of one when a form of cancer destroyed his optic nerves.

He started at WDOH as a high school junior. One year later, he was president of his senior class and signing the station on the air every morning before school.

In addition to his news responsibilities, Ulm sells advertisements for the station, plays organ and piano in a five-piece band and writes his own music.

"I'm very open to just about anything," Ulm said. "I have an interest in politics, which I may develop more fully in the near future."

Ulm plans to marry his high school sweetheart in June, and he's busy remodeling the house in Delphos where they will live.

He says there are lots of things he would like to do, but can't because he's blind—like driving a sports car.

"But the time I spend bitching and crying about how bad things are is time I've wasted," he said. "And as little time as we have, we have no time to waste."

Men And Women In Military Service

TIMMY LEE BETTS

Timmy Lee Betts, Nicholas Drive, has just completed his eight weeks recruit training at the Navy Recruiting Center, Great Lakes, Ill. After his recruit leave, he will undergo extensive schooling at aviation machinist school, Memphis, Tenn.

During his schooling he will learn how to maintain and service jet and reciprocating engines and their systems, handling and servicing aircraft on the ground and on ships, supervision of jet engine repair, perform spectrometric oil analysis tests, perform helicopter maintenance, install and maintain engines and accessories, drives, gear boxes, and flight systems on helicopters.

Timmy was enlisted through the local Navy recruiting station.

BILLY SUTTON

Petty Officer First Class Billy Sutton, U.S. Navy, has been assigned to the Pickaway County area as the Navy representative. Sutton begins his tour in recruiting after having completed an extended sea tour aboard the USS Abraham Lincoln, which is a fleet ballistic missile type submarine. He was homeported in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii. Sutton brings to recruiting a well rounded practical experience of fleet training.

It was announced by Chief Petty Officer Rhoads, the recruiter in charge of the Navy Recruiting Station, Chillicothe, which embraces a 6-county area of Pickaway, Ross, Pike, Highland, Jackson and Vinton, that Sutton will be concentrating his efforts in the Circleville area for qualified men and women for enlistment into the Navy. Sutton will maintain his office at 210 S. Court St., each Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m. In the event that anyone should desire to reach him at other times, he will be at the Chillicothe station.

Ousted Official In Court Setback

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gregory J. Stebbins, ousted as chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission last year, had another setback in federal court Wednesday in an attempt to regain his job.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert Duncan rejected counterclaims in a lawsuit Stebbins filed against Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Duncan said the counterclaims involved the same dispute as one last December. That's when a three-judge federal panel found Stebbins had been accorded due process during Ohio Senate hearings in which his dismissal was approved.

TROUBLE SHOOTERS — Two Pickaway-Ross F.F.A. members recently won first place in the F.F.A. sub-district and district tractor trouble shooting contest. Bob Carle (left) and Gary Davis were the Vocational Center's representatives to these contests. The contest requires that a two man team work together in finding two "bugs" placed in a tractor by a judge. There are five such tractors, each with a different set of problems. A written examination is also a part of the contest. The team works under a time limit of 20 minutes. They are also scored on their methods and procedures in finding the problems. The team was trained by F.F.A. advisors, Joe Cupp and Russ Boley. Other F.F.A. advisors at the Vocational Center include: Gary Speelman, Fred Tomastik and Tom Harp. F.F.A. District 10 includes 22 F.F.A. chapters in Ross, Pickaway, Highland, Clermont, Adams, Brown, Pike and Scioto.

LANDSCAPE JUDGES — Three Pickaway-Ross F.F.A. members recently placed high in a statewide Landscape Horticulture judging contest sponsored by the Northwestern-Clark F.F.A. chapter of near Springfield. The team, composed of members left to right, Rick Blaney, Doug Schwart, and Randy Detillion placed third out of 28 teams. Schools from as far as Cleveland participated in the contest. Detillion was the 7th high individual in the contest with Blaney placing 10th. There were 152 individual F.F.A. members participating in the contest. The team was required to identify insects, weeds and plants commonly found in the modern landscape planting. They were also required to identify tools and equipment used in landscape work. The team will be competing for state honors at the state contests to be held in May. The team was trained by F.F.A. advisors: Fred Tomastik and Gary Speelman. Other F.F.A. advisors at the Vocational Center include Joe Cupp, Russ Boley and Tom Harp.

Mustangs Drop Two With Lions

The Westfall Mustangs dropped both ends of a doubleheader to the Liberty Union Lions Saturday at the Lions' field.

The Lions crossed the plate five times in the second inning of the first contest, and that spelled the difference as they went on to edge the Westfall nine 10-9. The Mustang half of the seventh saw the locals pick up four big runs, but it proved to be not quite enough.

Kevin Glasspoole was the winning hurler. Howard Rowland pitched for the Mustangs. Rowland went the distance and 10 runs on 10 hits and five bases on balls. He fanned four batters.

Rowland also helped his own cause with two singles. Other Mustangs picking up singles were Dave Clem, Rick Stillings, Randy Adams, Carey Puckett, and Terry Williams.

In the second game, a 5-2 loss, the Mustang runs all came in the third, and the Lions all came in the fifth.

Tony Simon was on the hill for the Mustangs in the game. He too went the distance, giving up the five runs on four hits, with three walks. He also sent down three batters. Simon had a one hit shut-out working until the fifth frame.

Rowland was the big bat in the second game also with two more singles. Other players with singles were Ted Everman, Stillings, Adams, and Neil Keller.

The Mustangs are still seeking their first win of 1977. They take to the diamond again tonight with a 4:30 date at Chillicothe Bishop Flaget.

Aces Split With Zane Trace Saturday

The Amanda-Clearcreek Aces dropped the first of two games to Zane Trace Saturday, but came back with five big runs in the first frame of the second contest to win by an 8-7 score.

Willie Crites took the hill in the first game for the Aces. He gave up six hits and three walks, and sent eight batters back to the dugout.

Greg Ireton was the hurler for the Pioneers. He gave up six hits and failed to walk a batter. He sent nine down swinging. Ralph Hedrick, Mike Cassill, Ed Thompson, Cloyce Hartley, Bruce Davis, and Lee Chatots all belted singles for the Aces.

Both Ends Of Doubleheader

Teays Valley lost both ends of a doubleheader to Columbus Wehrle Saturday, 4-3 and 3-2.

Dave Anderson hurled the first game for the Vikings, giving up eight hits, walking five and fanning three. The winning pitcher was Dotson. He was touched for seven hits, walked one and fanned seven.

Terry Trego, Duane Keller, Greg Prince and Ernie Fielder all singled for the Vikings while Lance Roese doubled, Eric Graves doubled and singled. For the winners, Morbitzer hammered three singles.

Dean Gloyd was tagged with the loss in the second game, giving up nine hits and walking two. Nickles was the winner, limiting Teays Valley to three hits, two walks while fanning 11.

For the Vikings, Duane Keller doubled, Prince and John Pabst singled.

The Vikings have a 2-6 overall record and are 1-2 in the Metro League. They play at Franklin Heights today at 4:30 p.m.

Oilers Beat Aeros, 7-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Edmonton Oilers came out ahead in the scoring but took something of a physical pounding while beating the Houston Aeros.

Veteran Edmonton defenseman Barry Wilkins re-injured his right knee in the second period after being roughed up by Houston's Terry Ruskowski; Gregg Boddy had bumps on his face as a result of a first-period fight with Ruskowski, and Frank Beaton had a scratch over his eye following a scuffle with Aeros defenseman Al McLeod.

In addition, the Oilers' Bill Flett needed six stitches, closing a cut on his forehead.

Still, they won the game. Their 7-2 triumph over the Aeros Sunday cut Houston's lead to 2-1 in the best-of-seven World Hockey Association West Division semifinal playoff series.

Circleville Captures Kiwanis Relays

A large crowd enjoyed beautiful weather Saturday as they watched Circleville win the eighth annual Circleville Kiwanis Relays for the sixth time.

Circleville compiled 112 points to take the event. Following in order of finish were: Miami Trace, 82; Wilmington, 47; Unioto, 47, tie; Greenfield, 41; Adena, 37; Lakewood, 24; Bloom Carroll, 22; Fairfield Union, 20; Waverly, 20, tie; Hillsboro, 9; Southeastern, 6; Washington C.H., 0.

Five meet records were set in the event as the athletes performed to perfection. Records were set in the following events: Shot—103 feet 9 inches by Unioto to break the old mark of 97 feet 9 1/2 inches; 2-Mile Relay—Circleville (Greg Berrigan, Dennis Lester, Tom Taylor, Frank Merrill), 8:17.77 to break old mark of 8:27.5; Sprint Medley Relay—Wilmington, 1:36.59, to break record of 1:38.8; Distance Medley—Wilmington, 8:10.42, to break 8:15.9; Mile Relay—Wilmington, 3:31.42, to break old mark of 3:32.5.

Circleville picked up five firsts in the following events: Triple Jump, 75 feet 3 1/4 inches, Frank Merrill and Dave Marshall; Pole Vault—Jeff Moorehead and Jim Gates, 23 feet 9 inches; 4-Mile Relay—(Joe Leahy, Joel Baker, Tom Taylor, Dave Uland), 19:10.32; 2-Mile Relay—(Greg Berrigan, Dennis Lester, Tom Taylor, Frank Merrill), 8:17.77; 880 Relay (Harl Stevenson, Dave Marshall, Wayne Rhoades, Dave

JIM GATES

Phillips, 1:34.42.

"Speaking for myself and our team we certainly appreciated the fine turnout of fans and I want to thank the Kiwanis and all the people who came out to help us work the event," Circleville coach Jim Lint stated. "Without all these people who give us their time and support it would be impossible to run an affair like this. Once again I would like to say thanks to all the fans and all the helpers we had."

In case anyone is not familiar with relay meets, all distances in the field events are the combined totals of the two athletes on the team.

Here are the complete results of the meet:

Shot—Unioto, Miami Trace, Circleville (Bryan Price and Marc Albright), Bloom Carroll, Hillsboro, Greenfield, 103 feet 9 inches. Record.

Weaver Reins Winner

Brian Weaver, 526 Gumm Place, won the sixth race at Lebanon Saturday, driving Marmarg Susan in the 1-16 event with a time of 2:17.

The winner returned $18.40, $5.60 and $3.60 at the mutuel window.

Logan Elm Splits With Chieftans

Logan Elm Braves split a doubleheader with Logan Saturday, winning the first game 9-6 and losing the second, 11-1.

Tony Crist was the Braves hurler in the first tilt, giving up nine hits, walking seven and fanning five. Chris North started for the Chieftans in the first tilt and was relieved by Lightfoot. They were touched for 15 hits, walked three and fanned one.

The Braves won the game in the bottom half of the sixth when Jeff Collins doubled two runs home and then scored on Davis' single.

For the Braves, Jerry Scanlan singled, Randy Pontius singled, Lynn Strehle hit two singles and two doubles, Chuck Cave hammered three singles, Tony Crist singled, Jeff Collins doubled, Mike Davis doubled and singled, Mark Skinner doubled and singled. For the Chieftans Tucker blasted a 3-run homer.

In the second game, Strehle gave up 10 hits, walked six and fanned five. Heft was the winning pitcher, limiting the Braves to five hits, walking four and striking out three.

For LE Scanlan had two singles, Crist two singles and Collins one single.

The Braves play 4:15 today at Lancaster Fisher in Miller Park.

Logan Elm has a 9-2 overall record.

CHS Reserve Baseball Team Splits

The Circleville reserve baseball team split a double header with Washington C.H. Saturday, taking the first tilt by a 13-3 score but losing the second, 17-6.

Butch McFarland and Monte Shaffer pitched the first game, combining for seven strikeouts, seven walks and giving up only three hits.

Pat Poorman wielded the big bat for the Tigers, hammering a triple, double and single in five trips to the plate and driving in five runs.

Eric Berger, McFarland and Kevin Woltz all doubled.

In the second game, the pitchers for Circleville were Jeff Strawser, John Harr and Kevin Woltz. They walked 15, allowed seven hits and fanned six. Circleville had five hits with Poorman contributing two doubles to the attack.

Palmer, Birds Rip Rangers

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Jim Palmer is pitching like . . . well . . . Jim Palmer. And that means he's taking dead aim at a third consecutive Cy Young award.

The Baltimore ace gave up just three hits in leading the Orioles to a 5-0 victory over the Texas Rangers in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader. Ross Grimsley's six-hitter paced Baltimore to a 6-1 victory in the nightcap for a sweep of the twinbill.

"I can't expect to pitch much better than I have the last two games," Palmer said after picking up his 44th career shutout.

For Palmer, it was his second consecutive shutout. He has allowed only five hits in the last 18 innings. And he has yielded just 14 hits and two runs in 28 innings this year in compiling a 2-1 record and a sparkling 0.64 earned run average.

In other AL games Sunday, Boston and Cleveland split a doubleheader, Boston winning the first game 4-1 and Cleveland taking the second 10-5; the Chicago White Sox defeated Toronto 4-2; Minnesota clobbered Oakland 10-2; Kansas City nipped Detroit 6-5; Milwaukee blanked the New York Yankees 2-0, and Seattle downed California 11-7.

Left-hander Grimsley, aided by the booming bats of Billy Smith and Ken Singleton, followed Palmer's lead in the second game.

Smith hit his first major league homer and also collected two singles in the first game and then added three singles in the nightcap. Singleton doubled and singled in the opener and added three hits in the second game.

Brewers 2, Yankees 0

"I didn't have good stuff at all today," Milwaukee's Bill Travers said after hurling the Brewers past New York. "My fork ball still isn't there yet. I must have thrown at least 75 per cent fastballs."

But it was enough as Travers stopped the Yankees on six hits. Milwaukee scored its first run in the third when Jim Wohlford walked and came home on Charlie Moore's triple. Robin Yount homered in the sixth for the Brewers' other run.

Mariners 11, Angels 7

Home runs by Dan Meyer and Lee Stanton led Seattle to its first road victory ever as the Mariners downed California. Meyer slammed a three-run blast in the first inning while Stanton hit a two-run homer in the sixth.

California tied the game at 55 in the third on a two-run double by Dave Chalk, a runcoring single by Joe Rudi and an error by Seattle shortstop Craig Reynolds. Bobby Bonds also homered for the Angels.

Red Sox 4-5, Indians 1-10

Fred Kendall's solo homer snapped a 5-5 tie and Cleveland went on to a 10-5 victory in the night cap after Boston won the opener 4-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Reggie Cleveland.

Kendall's homer, his first as an Indian, came with one out in the fourth. Pitcher Jim Bibby got the victory despite giving up five runs in the fourth inning that included a three-run homer by Butch Hobson.

In the opener, Andre Thornton gave the Indians a 1-0 lead with his first homer of the season. But Boston tied it in the fifth and took the lead for good in the sixth on a walk, a single by Carlton Fisk, a bunt hit by Dwight Evans and Hobson's sacrifice fly.

Royals 6, Tigers 5

John Mayberry's home run in the eighth inning snapped a 5-5 tie and gave Kansas City its victory over Detroit.

Detroit had jumped into a 3-0 first-inning lead as Ron LeFlore doubled, Tito Fuentes singled and Rusty Staub homered. Staub also tripled in the top of the eighth to knot the score at 5-5.

The Royals, who snapped a three-game losing streak, scored four runs in their half of the first behind George Brett's double, an error, Mayberry's single, a fielder's choice and Buck Martinez' double.

White Sox 4, Jays 2

Pitchers Ken Brett and Bruce Dal Canton combined to toss a four-hitter as Chicago downed Toronto for the White Sox' fifth straight victory.

Alan Bannister scored the first Chicago run when he opened the bottom half of the first inning with a walk, moved to third on Jorge Orta's single and scored on Richie Zisk's sacrifice fly. Losing pitcher Bill Singer walked the first three batters in the third, and the Sox scored two runs without the aid of a hit as Royle Stillman and Orta delivered sacrifice flies.

Twins 10, A's 2

A bases-loaded triple by Rod Carew sparked Minnesota's seven-run second inning and carried the Twins to their victory over Oakland.

Nicklaus Victorious

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus was vastly unimpressed with a golfing milestone he passed — but he was very considerably impressed with young Bruce Lietzke.

"I look to Bruce to be one of two or three guys in the future to dominate the game," Nicklaus said after beating Lietzke in three holes of sudden death for golf's prestigious Tournament of Champions title Sunday.

"He's long. He's strong. He plays very well. He thinks well," Nicklaus said in assessing the powerful, 25-year-old Lietzke, one of the leaders in the youth movement that has swept the pro tour this year.

"He will win a lot of golf tournaments. He has all the equipment."

He also positively idolizes Jack Nicklaus.

"He's been my idol since I was 8 or 10 years old," Lietzke said. "I got in a lot of fist fights defending him when I was a kid. You know, he was a young player then and coming along and beating Arnold Palmer and a lot of people didn't like it."

"Then, when he got on top and stayed on top, I felt good because he'd always been my man. And now, to play with him, well, I just feel like I've grown up with him."

And there was no disappointment involved when Nicklaus rolled in an 8-10 foot birdie putt on the third extra hole to beat Lietzke in the chase for a $45,000 first prize.

"It's a great thrill," said Lietzke, who has won twice and finished second twice already this season. "I'm not at all disappointed.... To lose to a man like Jack Nicklaus is nothing to be ashamed of."

Nicklaus, once five strokes off the pace, had six birdies, five bogeys and seven pars on the way to a 71 and a tie with Lietzke at 281 for the regulation 72 holes. Lietzke birdied four of six holes in one back-nine stretch on his way to a six-under-par 66 on the 6,855-yard La Costa Country Club course.

It was Nicklaus' second title of the year and 62nd of his unmatched career. It put him in a tie with Ben Hogan on the alltime victory list, behind Sam Snead's leading 84.

Ed Sneed Winner In Tallahassee

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — "I know how disappointed he must be," tour veteran Ed Sneed said after calmly sinking a 12-foot birdie putt on the first playoff hole and beating Lon Hinkle in the Tallahassee Open golf tournament.

The tall, blond Sneed, from Pompano Beach, Fla., and San Diego State graduate Hinkle finished regulation play tied at 12-under-par 276 Sunday in the $80,000 PGA tournament.

Sneed, who had two previous PGA victories, birdied three of the last four holes to force the playoff.

"I thought I had it really under control after the 16th, but it didn't work out," said Hinkle, whose total earnings in five previous years on the tour were $11,058.

Sneed won $16,000 and Hinkle $9,120.

At the 16th, 33-year-old Hinkle took the lead when Bobby Walzel of Missouri City, Tex., hit his tee shot into the trees and took a triple bogey seven.

Sneed, who was two strokes behind Hinkle, birdied that hole, parred the 17th and birdied the par-four 18th from 20 feet for the tie.

Hinkle then missed a 20-foot birdie effort on No. 1 as Sneed made his deciding 12-footer.

"Walking back from the first green, I was very near to tears," Hinkle said. "I haven't been in position to win that often. I could almost taste it. I was nervous but I thought I had it."

The equally disappointed Walzel, also a non-winner in his fifth year, wound up two strokes back at 278 and earned $5,680.

Jim Simons of Tequesta, Fla., and second-round leader Jack Ewing of Capistrano Beach, Calif., were at 279. They were followed at 280 by Phil Rodgers, Dale Hayes, Bobby Cole and Ed Dougherty.

Tournament favorite Hubert Green, the fourth-leading money winner on the tour last year, shot a closing 66 but was far back at 284. Also at that figure was Bob Murphy, a former University of Florida star. Orville Moody, the 1969 U.S. Open champion, won $453.72 with his 286.

Scarlet Team Posts Victory

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio State Scarlet team took its fourth straight victory Sunday in the Kepler Intercollegiate Golf Tournament with a 1,124 total, eight strokes better than Marshall.

Miles Prestemon of Minnesota took medalist honors Sunday with a par 72 on the Ohio State Scarlet course giving him the best tournament total of 219.

The victory was the fourth straight for Ohio State and it was Marshall's second straight runnerup effort.

Team totals:

Ohio State Scarlet 1,124; Marshall 1,132; Ohio State Gray 1,150; Indiana 1,155; Miami 1,156; Illinois State 1,159; Bowling Green 1,160; Toledo 1,163; Minnesota 1,167; Michigan State 1,169; Kent State 1,171; Ball State 1,172; Purdue 1,172; Iowa 1,174; Illinois 1,176; Ohio University 1,178; Michigan 1,180; Cincinnati 1,180; Western Michigan 1,181; Central Michigan 1,186; Notre Dame 1,188; Northern Illinois 1,190; and Eastern Michigan 1,193.

Steve Cauten, the sensational 16-year-old jockey, had a six-winner day at New York's Aqueduct track in January.

Seaver, Mets Blank Cubs, 6-0

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

Tom Seaver has won three Cy Young Awards as the best pitcher in the National League. He's led the league in strikeouts five times, in earned run average three times and in victories twice. He's carried the New York Mets to two pennants and one world championship, earning the nickname "the franchise" in the process.

But he's never thrown a no-hitter. It's perhaps the only thing lacking from his brilliant pitching record. He's come close many times, but never come up with the gem.

"I'd like to have one, it would be fun to have," said the 32-year-old right-hander, who came close again Sunday — a 6-0, one-hitter against the Chicago Cubs.

It was Seaver's fifth one-hitter, and he claims that at this stage of his career, a no-hitter is no longer a primary objective. "It would have been more exciting earlier in my career," he said, "but values change. If I get one, I get one. But it's not a measure of greatness."

The one that got away came in the fifth inning. Steve Ontiveros was the batter.

The ball looped out to right field. Ed Kranepool, usually a first baseman but playing right field in an attempt by Mets Manager Joe Frazier to beef up the attack, raced in to try to make a play. He dove for the ball but could only trap it.

In other National League games Sunday, the Los Angeles Dodgers edged the San Francisco Giants 7-6, the Atlanta Braves beat the Houston

Astros 5-4, the Montreal Expos nipped the Philadelphia Phillies 2-1, the St. Louis Cardinals trimmed the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the San Diego Padres 4-1.

The Mets attack included a two-run homer by Dave Kingman and three runs batted in by Bruce Boicclair, on a single and a double. Chicago's infield also contributed a four-error seventh inning that helped New York to its last three runs.

Dodgers 7, Giants 6

A Cap Day crowd of 47,273, largest ever to see the Giants in San Francisco, saw the home team take a 6-5 lead with four runs in the seventh inning, three on a pinch homer by Darrell Evans. But Ron Cey tied it with a leadoff homer in the eighth, then pinch hitter Lee Lacy doubled home Steve Garvey with the winning run later in the inning.

Braves 5, Astros 4

Ron Gilbreath's double score Gary Matthews with the winning run in the eighth inning as Atlanta completed a sweep of its series with Houston.

Expos 2, Phils 1

Philadelphia's record dropped to 1-6 thanks to Ellis Valentine, who hit his third home run of the season in the eighth inning for the Expos' winning run. Valentine connected off Gene Garber.

Montreal's Dave Cash and Philadelphia's Bob Boone had run-scoring singles.

Cards 4, Pirates 3

Bake McBride drove home the winning run by beating out a bunt to cap a three-run surge in the fifth inning that carried the Cardinals past Pittsburgh.

Pinch hitter Roger Freed drove home the first run of the inning with a single to left, then Garry Templeton tied the score with a sacrifice fly.

Reds 4, Padres 1

Pat Zachry, 14-7 last year as the National League's co-rookie of the year, scattered seven hits as Cincinnati beat San Diego. Zachry also had two hits, as did Joe Morgan and George Foster. Foster's two-run single in the first inning was the big blow.

Badgers Sweep 4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin wasn't expected to be a top contender for this year's Big Ten baseball crown. But, after only the first weekend of play, the badgers are just two victories shy of matching their total for all of last season.

Wisconsin, which had a 6-7 conference record in 1976, swept a pair of doubleheaders to lead eight conference squads into the 82nd Big Ten baseball season, which opened Saturday. Only Ohio State and Indiana haven't seen league action.

Minnesota and Northwestern each finished the weekend's play with 3-1 records, while Michigan, which won the title the last two seasons, and Michigan State, shared fourth place at 2-2. Illinois and Iowa follow at 1-3 while Purdue is in the cellar with an 0-4 mark.

Wisconsin battered Purdue 5-1 and 8-1 on Saturday, then came up with a 5-4, 9-2 twin killing of Illinois at Champaign, Ill. on Sunday.

Sandra Palmer Wins Women's Tournament

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Jane Blalock said she did not know that when she attempted an unsuccessful recovery shot from the marsh, Women's International winner Sandra Palmer had just made another bogey and she was technically ahead.

But, if she had, it would not have made much difference.

"Had I known the situation I still would have tried the same thing," said Miss Blalock after a disastrous double bogey on the 18th hole of the Devil's Elbow Course at Moss Creek Plantation Sunday.

Miss Blalock, of Highland Beach, Fla., hooked her drive into the edge of the marsh. She tried to cut the ball out, but caught tall grass on the downswing and missed completely. It took four more strokes for her to finish the hole.

Miss Palmer, who collected $12,000 for the victory, boosting her earnings this year to $49,000, said she felt "sort of tired but real good" after her two-stroke triumph.

After watching a five-stroke lead dissolve on the back nine, she sank a birdie on the 16th, holding off Miss Blalock, who made a strong charge that brought her from seven strokes behind to one shot ahead of Miss Palmer at one point.

Miss Palmer, winner of the Kathryn Crosby Tournament at San Diego in March, finished with a two-under 70 for a four-round total of 271, seven-under par.

The Fort Worth, Tex. veteran started tied with Mary Lou Crocker with a 54-hole total of 221, and had four birdies and five pars on the front side, making the turn five strokes in front of the field. But she bogeyed 10, 13 and 15 before the victory saving birdie on the par-four 16th.

Miss Blalock received $8,000 for second place, bringing her total in four tournaments this year to $29,000.

Silvia Bertolaccini, who finished with a 71, and Pat Bradley, 70, tied for third at 284. Each received $5,500.

Miss Crocker, who led through the first two rounds, tied Jan Stephenson for fifth at 285 and won $3,875. Miss Crocker also earned a $1,000 bonus for her opening round 66, low for the tournament.

Kathy Whitworth and Judy Rankin each picked up $2,462 for their seventh-place tie with totals of 286.

A record total of 28,422 aces was reported to the Golf Digest Hole-In-One Clearing House in 1976.

Eaton Man 2nd In Bowling Clash

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ken Lindsey of Eaton moved up to second place in handicap singles and took third position in actual singles after seventh round action here Sunday in the Ohio State Bowling Tournament.

Lindsey has a handicap score of 727 to put him one behind Ken Robinette of Greenfield with 736. In actuals, Lindsey's 689 trails Jeff Mraz of Akron with 693 and Bob Brown of Columbus with 700.

The all events leader continues to be Willie Hegedus of Toledo with 1,938.

The American football field is 120 yards long and 160 feet wide.

Views On Television

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Having produced "Mary Hartman" and a genre called Deadpan Outlandish, Norman Lear is starting another bag — The Raised-Consciousness Switcheroo — in about 40 cities today and tonight.

It's "All That Glitters," a daily syndicated series about what happens if sex roles are reversed and women, not men, dominate life, love and business. It may cause a bit of comment in coming weeks.

For starters, it postulates that God is a woman, that she first created Eve and, learning Eve was lonely, relieved her of a rib and created Adam. And that women have been first ever since.

Set in modern America, it has 11 regulars, six laboring in the Wilmington Ale Division of a conglomerate, Globatron Corp., which is to the series what the hamlet of Fernwood is to "Hartman."

In four well-acted segments, the opening show sets up a world of hard-driving career women, male secretaries with little hope of advancement, and two husbands who are No. 2 in the scheme of things.

At dawn, we see Andrea (Louise Shaffer), a young lady lawyer, waking in bed with her lover, Michael (David Haskell). He's a secretary who complains all she desires is sex. He desires a home and marriage.

He shares his apartment with another secretary, Dan (Gary Sandy), a sexually voracious hustler who, like Andrea, has no eyes for a home and marriage. Michael suggests that she fall in love with Dan.

"He's much too aggressive and competitive," she sighs.

Then we see a married couple, played by Anita Gillette and ex-Dodger Wes Parker. She's fretting about a big advertising campaign she's planned, he's an ex-actor planning to resume his career.

"I'm not just some slob of a husband who all of a sudden decided to get out of the house and become an actor," he says at one point. "I had a very good career before I married you."

Another married couple is Bert (Chuck McCann), an overweight house-husband who nags at his lovely life, Christine (Lois Nettleton). She's a top Wilmington Ale executive who, it develops, is having an office affair with her secretary, the one named Dan.

To round out the cast there's L.W. Carruthers (Barbara Baxley), the domineering, cruel head of Globatron. Seems this fiftieth executive still has an eye for the boys, the old rascal.

In a boardroom scene, as the camera focuses on the aft section of Dan as he leaves the room, L.W. leers: "Sweetest little bottom in the whole corporation, wouldn't you say?"

The premiere of this series by Lear and Ann Marcus is quite an interesting, entertaining attitude exercise. It'll hearten liberated women, amuse male chauvinists, anger traditionalists, titillate civilians.

Lear hoped to have sold it in 80 markets by now, but his office says just 40 have bought in, so far. Still, the number may rise if it gets a reputation as the radical new TV show of 1977.

Whether it lasts beyond 13 weeks, though, depends on how well "Glitters" avoids the dullness that can come just from the grind of trying to be funny, profound and controversial five days a week.

THE LAND...

an investment for
ALL TIMES!

APRIL 17th to 23rd
PRIVATE PROPERTY WEEK

I AM A REALTOR I PLEDGE MYSELF

To protect the individual right of real estate ownership and to widen the opportunity to enjoy it;
To be honorable and honest in all dealings;
To seek better to represent my clients
by building my knowledge and competence;
To act fairly towards all in the spirit of the Golden Rule;
To serve well my community, and through it my country;
To observe the Realtor's Code of Ethics and conform my conduct to its lofty ideals.

"Under All Is The Land"

"UNDER ALL IS THE LAND."
UPON THIS TRUTH, THESE FREEDOMS STAND:
THE RIGHT TO OWN, THE RIGHT TO GIVE,
TO SELL OR LEASE, THE RIGHT TO LIVE
ON OUR OWN PLOT, WITHOUT DURESS,
OUR CHOSEN WAY TO HAPPINESS.
WHEN IMPERILLED THESE RIGHTS MAY BE,
THEN IS THREATENED DEMOCRACY.
PROPERTY RIGHTS ARE HUMAN RIGHTS,
FOR THESE FREEDOM ALWAYS FIGHT.
LAND OWNERSHIP DEVELOPS THRIFT,
NEGATES THE WELFARE STATE OF GIFT.
NO SACRIFICE IS TOO GREAT TO MAKE,
WHEN, IN LAND, EACH HAS A STAKE.
WE REALTORS KNOW, WE UNDERSTAND,
THAT — "UNDER ALL IS THE LAND."

"Invest in real estate (land) ... they ain't making it no more."

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the pride of our community and of communities throughout the Nation is a reflection of the pride our citizens take in the property they own and in the care they devote to their homes and

WHEREAS, members of the Pickaway County Board of REALTORS are among the chief architects of the economic and civic growth of our community through their encouragement and promotion of private home ownership, productive urban, industrial and farm land use and healthful environment and

WHEREAS, REALTORS and REALTOR-ASSOCIATES have earned the trust and gratitude of our people by the degree of their social responsibility, fidelity to high standards of professionalism, and uncompromising voluntary allegiance to a rigid Code of Ethics and

WHEREAS, all citizens of the community benefit from the diligence of REALTORS' efforts to protect every citizen's right to private property ownership, from their dedication to competency through continuing education and training and from their constant pursuit of the community's sound economy by locating and offering secure investment opportunities and

WHEREAS, REALTORS have given unselfishly of their time and talent to community causes, to cooperating in the search for equitable solutions to community problems, and to thoughtful response to the educational, professional and recreational needs of the community with meritorious civic benefits to all;

NOW THEREFORE, I, Frank Barnhill, Mayor of Circleville, do hereby proclaim April 17-23 to be Private Property Week and urge my fellow citizens to join with the Pickaway County Board of REALTORS, the Ohio Association of REALTORS and the more than 500,000 REALTORS and REALTOR-ASSOCIATES across the nation in this observance with appropriate and significant programs of civic betterment during this week and throughout the year.

IN WITNESS THEREOF, I hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the city of Circleville to be affixed this 16th day of April, 1977.

Many Kroger Stores
SERVING YOU
24
HOURS DAILY
 Except Sunday

- 1 BUY THIS WEEK'S GROCERIES AT KROGER.
 And while you're at our store, pick up one of our handy Mini-Mizer pocket adders for only 77¢.
- 2 CHECK AT ANY OTHER FOOD STORE YOU LIKE.
 Use your Mini-Mizer to add up that store's total for the same items you just bought at Kroger.
- 3 COMPARE THE TOTALS.
 We believe Kroger's total will be lower. But if you have any doubts, invest 77¢ and an hour of your time in making the test. See how much you can save, and settle any doubts for sure.
